

Yield Configuration

The Yield Configuration module will allow the user to configure yield configuration for a process area.

User can configure the formula for yield calculation of a process.